GAME DESCRIPTION

The Monster Drop game is a two (2) player station non-competitive electronic arcade redemption game. Each player station consists of a game ball, a horizontal circular spinning platform with various scoring holes, and a "Drop Ball" button.

The object of the game is for the player is to time the release of the ball to the spinning of the circular platform to maximize their chances of hitting one of the top award prizes, such as the Monster Jackpot, the Jackpot, or the Drop Bonus Ball. If the player lands a ball in the Monster Jackpot scoring hole in the center of the play field, the player will be awarded the tickets indicated on the Monster Jackpot display, located at the top center exterior of the player stations. If the ball lands in a ticket valued hole on the play field the player is awarded that amount of tickets. However, there are multiple prizes on the horizontally spinning circular platform which are represented in descriptive text rather than a ticket value. These prizes, and their respective rewards, are described below:

- Jackpot - the player is awarded the value that is displayed on the Jackpot display, located at the top center back of the play field, at the time the ball is scored
- Add Bonus - the bonus ball value, which displayed at the back center of the play field, which will increment by one(1).
- Drop Bonus Ball - the game enters this phase by releasing balls onto the play field, decreasing the bonus ball display by one (1) for each ball released. Balls will continue to be released until the display reaches zero (0), at which point the bonus phase ends. The prizes values are accumulated and issued to the player.
- Mystery Value - the player is randomly awarded a value between one (1) and twenty-five (25).

Upon completion of the game all awards are dispensed as tickets to the player for prize redemption.
